Has created many a new business;
Has enlarged many an old business;
Has revived many a dull business;
Has created many a lasting business;
Has built many a paying business;
And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SPORRY.—Stephen Girard used to say h "I have always considered advertising as the great medium of success in be- a prelude to wealth. And I have made sale to advertise in dull times as well as the experience having taught me that money well laid out, as by continually keeping my to the public it has secured many sales that would have lost."

A case of the epizootic is reported at Lewiston, I. T.

John Toner of Pierce county, W. T., has been adjudged insane and sent to the Asylum.

Walla Walla's big parsnip was 26 inches long, and Olympia claims one to beat it by 6 inches.

A "bit of a mill" between two boys at Olympia drew out quite a crowd of men and boys and Indians.

Rev. Mr. Van Horn, Chaplain at Fort Vancouver, has just returned from an extended tour in the East.

The public examination at the Territorial University at Seattle will be held on the 27th and 28th inst.

A loss of $250 occurred from fire in the slaughter house of Sullivan & Gilbach at Tumwater, last week.

A man named Ray, and his wife, are having a very unpleasant time in the Courts of Idaho about the possession of five children.

An Oregon Sheriff is over at Olympia with a requisition for some fugitive from justice, according to a local paper, which gives no names.

Brigham Young says that Uncle Sam may blow and he may blaster, but polygamy will live a thousand years for all that. Brigham's children, at last accounts, numbered one hundred and seventeen.

The religious revival at Boise City grows in interest, and the gambling and liquor saloons are almost deserted, while the Church is crowded every night.

An effort is being made in Washington Territory to have Capt. E. S. Fowler removed from the Board of Pilot Commissioners, and Mr. James of Port Townsend put in his place.

On Thursday evening of last week, as a laborer from the south side of the river was passing the streets of Vancouver, two men threw a blanket over his head and relieved him of about thirty-five dollars. The highwaymen were not recognized.

The horse disorder is raging in Denver and various other sections of Colorado Territory. Several livery stables refuse to let any horses. Most animals of the Colorado Central Stage Company are sick, and no coaches are running between Central City and Georgetown. The disorder thus far is of a mild character.

In Wyoming Territory women are admitted to serve on juries. In a recent case one of the lady jurors had with her in the jury room her babe of a few months old. The party who lost the suit now asks that the verdict shall be set aside on that account. He insists that the presence of the child was contrary to law.

They have had rather an unusually mild winter on an average at Lewiston. Stock of all kinds is in splendid condition. The feed appears to be good, and even those animals that were low in in flesh at the setting in of winter, are now gaining in weight, and before spring fairly opens will, probably, be in as good condition as stock which was fat last fall.

The Legal Tender mine in Montana is a good thing to own. On the 26th ult., at the depth of 161 feet, they unexpectedly came upon a vein of solid ore ten inches in width, and that the average assay is $2,800 in silver per ton of 2,000 pounds, of which the poorest of the vein went $2,100, and fancy samples $17,300. The crevice matter is 27 inches wide. This is considered by the most experienced miners to be the greatest strike ever made in the Territory, and excels anything known in any mines on the continent. The ore is galena, with sulphate, ruby and native silver.

A correspondent writing from Waitsburg, W. T., says: "As to news, we have got nothing of importance. Money is getting scarcer continually and there is no prospect of its getting better unless the North Pacific Railroad Company commences to build their road from the Columbia river to Lake Pen d'Oreille, and then we have some hopes of times improving. Weather quite cold again; ground covered with snow; mails running regularly to Missoula and Fort Colville—have failed but once this winter to make connection. Local items scarce. Plenty of provisions and very cheap—costs but little to live."

Interesting Letter from Fort Lapwai.

FORT LAPWAI, I. T., Feb. 6, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I wonder if any of you who are reveling in all the luxury of modern improvements away down on the "big Wallamet," ever give a thought to those who are up in the mountains, hemmed in by ice and snow, with no way of getting about only on the outside of a cayuse, hearing very little of the outside world, and seeing nothing of it? Why, up here, we consider it a treat nowadays to occasionally see a wandering "Abergoine," and when the mail arrives it is a regular feast. Our winter here has been an unusually long one; and such a one! Snow, hail, sleet and terribly high winds have prevailed with astonishing regularity. Even the oldest inhabitant positively declares "he never seed" such a winter, and I am sure of the five winters I have passed here this one just "knocks the cooke" off any of them. I am of the opinion the earthquake that visited us last December (and it shook us up "right peart") frightened the Clerk of the Weather to such a degree he has quite forgotten to give old Winter a "kick back," and therefore old Boreas still holds sway. Yet, notwithstanding our long continued winter, stock of all kinds are doing well. The miners rejoice at the depth of snow on the mountains, for to them it is a golden harvest; as, when the balmy breath of spring shall come with its genial, softening influence, the melting snow will afford them an abundance of water to work their claims, and with renewed energy they will delve into the bowels of the earth and bring forth its hidden treasures. The farmers expect a large yield, and then "we" will irritate the sugar in ours, and rejoice with the rest of mankind or "any other man."

Business of all kinds is now at a stand still, as the weather is and has been such for the past two months and more, people will not travel unless they are compelled to.

At the present time, there are two companies of soldiers at this post, one cavalry and one infantry; so you see we are not afraid of the Modocs, both companies being used to Indian fighting and having won high honors in Arizona fighting the Apaches under their present commanders, Col. Geo B Sanford and Capt. Harry W. Smith.

The Indians on the Reservation (Nez Perces) are very peaceable, many being quite wealthy in cattle and horses, and are quite industrious. They have very good farms, raise considerable wheat, oats, barley, and all kinds of vegetables in abundance, and many of them have very comfortable houses, and can boast, as a nation, of never shedding white man's blood.

The "boys in blue" seem to enjoy themselves very much, as their officers endeavor to make it as pleasant as possible for them, allowing them all the privileges they can, consistently.

I would like to give you a "sensation" item, but at present there is nothing in that line at hand. The very first chance that offers for one, I'll note it down and forward it to you. In the meantime, I will let you hear from me occasionally. "C."

An English court has decided that a husband is entitled to all the bed clothes he can get hold of, and if he be placed in possession of them by priority of retirement, it is not legally competent for the wife, although shivering in nocturnal toilet, to force a division by application of fire shovels, pokers, broom-sticks, or other implements of connubial discipline. Good for the "tyrant man."

WASHINGTON CITY.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Feb 14—In the House, Bowen from the Joint Committee to notify the President and Vice President-elect of their election, reported that the Committee had performed that duty, and had been charged by those gentlemen to report to the two Houses their acceptance of the trusts and confidence reposed in them, and their obligations to the people for that mark of confidence, and also the assurance that they would endeavor to discharge faithfully the duties of their respective offices.

In the Senate, Sherman from the Committee to notify the President and Vice President-elect of their election, made a report similar to that of the House Committee on the same subject.

In the Senate, Edmunds offered a resolution congratulating the people of Spain upon the peaceable establishment of a Republican form of Government, and requesting the President to send to the Spanish Government a copy of the resolution. The resolution was laid over and ordered printed.

The Committee on Finance reported adversely the House bill for amending the Revenue law so as to allow producers to sell one hundred dollars' worth of tobacco annually to consumers at the place of production.

The Vice President announced Cragin, Logan and Bayard as a committee on the part of the Senate to make preparations for the inauguration.

The House bill, amending the pension laws, was amended in several particulars, and passed the House.

Wood made an unsuccessful attempt to offer his resolution in reference to the Spanish Republic.

At twelve o'clock, under a special order, the distribution of the Geneva award came up. Pending the discussion the report of the Conference Committee on the Fortification bill and Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill, was received and adopted. Butler, of Massachusetts, opened the discussion on the Geneva award bill. A vote will be taken to-morrow.

President Taylor's Daughter.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.—A Washington special says Mrs. Wood, daughter of General Taylor, who was recently voted by the House a pens on of $50 per month, is the mother of John Taylor Wood, who commanded the rebel cruiser Ballahassee, who is now a well-to-do commission merchant at Halifax. It is also said that Mrs. Wood was a bitter secessionist during the war; moreover she has been living in Paris some time in magnificent style.

Drawing of the U. S. Saint.

A Washington special states positively that the report of the Poland Credit Mobilier Committee will recommend the expulsion of Ames and Brooks, and will severely censure other implicated Congressmen, with the probable impeachment of Oakes Ames is said to be in confidence as to the truth of this rumor. He says that if they attempt to expel him he will die hard; that it will take the whole House to kill him. He says if this expulsion occurs, what will it alone? That no man must hereafter tell the whole truth about Congressmen. How are the world and people to regard it? What do you do? You expel Brooks for lying, and you expel me for telling the truth.

A report from Washington of the investigation now going on before the Ways and Means Committee, gives probability to the stories heretofore current concerning the manner in which bills were introduced with at the close of the last session of Congress. It will be remembered that sections of the Internal Revenue laws, relating to tobacco, whisky and stamps, were altered at the time, so as to take effect August last instead of July 1st, as directed in the acts as passed.

The President's Message on Utah.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—The President's message respecting Utah calls attention to dangers likely to arise during the recess from a conflict of Federal and Territorial authorities. It says that general jurisdiction in the territories has been under the direct supervision of the National Government, but details have been left to the regulation of local authorities. It evidently never was intended to entrust a Territorial Legislature with power to create jurisdictions of its own, or increase the jurisdiction of courts appointed by Federal authority. In both these respects Utah required special legislation by Congress. The selection of grand and petit jurors must be placed in the hands of persons entirely independent of those who are determined not to enforce any obnoxious act of Congress to deprive Territorial courts of power, or to impede the execution of its Federal decrees. That contemplating the Territory of Utah provides for such legislation.

The Senate confirmed the nomination of Wm. M. Mitchell, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Utah.

Beau was confirmed as Postmaster of Los Angeles.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—Chas. G. Colgate, Agent of the New York Stock Exchange, was examined by the Committee of Ways and Means to-day, in relation to the means alleged to have been used to procure from Congress a repeal or modification of the tax on borrowed capital. He produced papers in relation to sales against the Stock Exchange for securing the passage of an amendment, but no money was paid to any person connected with the Internal Revenue Department or Congress, nor was such a thing as bribery hinted at, except that E. W. Bassett, Clerk of the Ways and Means Committee, offered his services for $250 per month for the session, and $5,000 if the repeal was secured. The Stock Exchange declined his proposition, and Bassett was paid nothing.

H. M. Noah, formerly a San Francisco journalist, died suddenly here to-day.

The Surveyorship of New York Harbor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—There is a great deal of comment on the announcement in Custom House circles that Jas. E. Smith's name had been withdrawn from the Senate for the position of Surveyor of this port, to which he was nominated. Two deputy collectors are prominent candidates for the office.

One Broker Less.

John M. Hodges, a Wall street broker, last night fell down a staircase at his residence on Fifth Avenue and broke his neck.

Stokes' Last Chance.

Representatives of the press were yesterday denied access to Stokes. His father and brother were the only persons admitted. The only remaining chance for the prisoner now, is a delay in the execution of the sentence, which may be obtained, to the end that a reviewal of the case may be had by a full bench of the Supreme Court, on the ground of unconstitutionality of the jury law of 1872.

The Slender Thread.

A later dispatch says Judge Davis has granted a stay of proceedings in Stokes' case.

The Greeley Estate.

The appraisers of Greeley's estate estimate the personal property will foot up about $12,000. It is said Samuel Sinclair owes the estate $3,000 at least. There is about $1,000,000 in bad debts and worthless securities. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., owes the estate fifty thousand dollars borrowed money.

Vanderbilt's Munificence.

Commodore Vanderbilt has given $5,000 to each of Mr. Greeley's daughters, saying they can have as much money as they need at any time.

Fearful Loss of Life.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 14.—The steamboat Henry A. Jones, from Houston for Galveston, with a cargo of cotton, burned this morning at Galveston. Twenty-one lives were lost, including the captain and both clerks.

The Conviction of a Murderer.

CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—The trial of John T. Osborne, at Galesburg, Illinois, for the murder of Mrs. Matthews, a young married woman at Yates City, Illinois, August last, under circumstances of peculiar atrocity, was concluded this morning. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty, fixing the penalty of death. The evidence against Osborne was wholly circumstantial, and of the strongest character.

From Portugal—Amadeus at Lisbon.

LISBON, Feb. 14.—Amadeus and his family were met at the railway station by the King, Queen, Prince August and members of the Cabinet. The Italian Ambassador received Amadeus. The Italian Queen was sick, and had to be carried in a sedan chair to the Palace. The streets through which they passed were crowded.

In the Chamber of Deputies to-day, a debate arose on recent events in Spain. Silnas said there was reason to expect that the changes in neighboring countries would have an echo in Portugal. He urged all to support the Constitution.

The Prime Minister said he saw no danger. The idea of a union between Spain and Portugal is gaining ground.

From Berlin.

BERLIN, Feb. 14.—The Spanish Minister had a conference for two hours with Bismarck to-day, and immediate recognition of the Spanish Republic by Germany is expected.

Comparative Freights Again

Last week the Bulletin published a table purporting to show the rates of freight on several different railways in the East and on Mr Holladay's east side road, to prove that Mr Holladay's rates are no higher than those of the Eastern lines We questioned the accuracy of the Bulletin's figures, and gave quotations from the New York Mercantile Journal showing that instead of paying as high freight charges as we do, the people of the Eastern and Mississippi valley States pay less on an average than one fourth of our tariffs

These rates, and those of the Oregon road are as follows

	*Per ton per 100 miles
Boston & Albany R R	$- 80
New York Central	1 70
Erie	1 56
Atlantic & Great Western	1 57
Pittsburg Fort Wayne & Chicago	1 48
Chicago Burlington & Quincy	1
Chicago Rock Island & Pacific	1 48
Union Pacific	1
Oregon & California	10 40

Let it be admitted that freights ought to be somewhat higher in Oregon than in the East, is it not crowding the matter a little to expect four times as much as in the East?

But the Bulletin comes back and says the Mercantile Journal's figures are not correct, or else if correct, they refer to through freights on long lines of road It is well known that freight carried a very long distance is charged at lower rates per 100 miles than that which is carried only a short distance But this fact would never explain the enormous difference apparent in the above figures. And the fact is, those Eastern quotations are not for long, but for short distances The Chicago Inter Ocean contains a statement of freight charges on a large number of roads, including all except the Union Pacific of those given in our table, and showing also the average distance that freight is carried on each at those rates From that table it appears that the distances on the roads given in our table, for freight charges at the rates we gave, are

Boston and Albany R R	100 miles
New York Central	400 "
Erie	460 "
Atlantic and Great Western	118 "
Pittsburg Fort Wayne and Chicago	190 "
Chicago Burlington and Quincy	150 "
Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific	160 "

To which we may add, from the Mercantile Journal, that the Boston and Maine railway carries an average of only 38 miles at the rate of $4 20 per ton per 100 miles, the Boston and Providence carries 30 miles at the rate of $3 60 per ton per 100 miles, and the Lehigh Valley 35 miles at the rate of $2 00 per ton per 100 miles These are given as the average of rates, and are for very short lines, the distance carried being for less than the average on the Oregon road

It is hardly possible that these Eastern commercial journals are wrong and the Bulletin alone correct. Nor is it likely that Mr. Holladay's paper will be able to hoodwink the people of this State into the belief that they are not enormously burdened to pay the interest on his European bonds. The fact stares the producer in the face that his labor is taxed all it will bear, and more than it ought to bear, and the money thus levied is sent away to Europe, where he can not enjoy the indirect benefit which its circulation in this country would confer upon him.

The Railway Organ Goes into Fits Again.

Our strictures upon the oppressive operations of Mr. Holladay's railway monopoly, have thrown the Bulletin into spasms again. We have said these railway companies had no right to obstruct the navigation of the Yamhill and Santiam rivers, and we have repeatedly declared that they were oppressing the producers and paralyzing the industries and trade of the State, by their extortionate freight tariffs. This, thinks the Bulletin, is treason. No man can say these things and be a Republican. There must be some alliance between the OREGONIAN and the Democracy, else why does the OREGONIAN take side with the people against the oppressions of this Holladay ring? Thus talks the Bulletin of last Saturday. It is sure the OREGONIAN is going bodily over to the Democratic party at the next election, for does not the ONEGONIAN from day to day publish truths which the Bulletin labors, in the interest of the railway monopoly, to conceal? and has not the Salem Mercury, which is a simon pure Democratic organ, said the OREGONIAN was doing the people a good service in this particular? Here is evidence of the most positive character that there is a perfect understanding between the OREGONIAN and the Democracy! Thus are we taken in flagrante delicto, and that, too, by Mr Holladay's own servants.

We are sorry to have thus upset the nerves of our neighbor, but the fact is the Bulletin has become so exceedingly testy since the individual with a grievance got to running it, that it is impossible to get along with it except by keeping one's eyes closed to the public sins of the great Holladay. By doing this one may live at peace with his paper, but not otherwise.

We suppose our readers, being Republicans, are pretty fair judges whether the OREGONIAN is Democratic or Republican, and as they are constantly increasing in number, we do not feel especially admonished to cease our attacks upon the railway tyranny And we may remark, furthermore, that if the Mercury or any other Democratic paper expresses approbation of our course in this matter, we shall regard that fact as a hopeful indication of the dawning of light in the Democratic cranium The things we have said about this monopoly are true whether they be said by Democrat or Republican, and it is their truthfulness that so exercises the railway organ The fact is the editor of the Bulletin is incapable of understanding the distinction between Holladay and the Republican party He has been so long accustomed to the most abject and slavish submission to the dictates of that individual, that he thinks it rank treason to have a thought that is not a mere reflection of Holladay's wishes. We do not propose to imitate the silliness of the Bulletin by prophesying that that paper will be found in the ranks of the Democracy at the next election but we do say that neither its readers, nor its editor can tell now where it will be, as that will depend altogether on what side Mr. Holladay may at that time deem it to be most to his interest to espouse

A Boston dispatch of the 8th instant says Senator Wilson has written his letter resigning his seat in the Senate to the Legislature of Massachusetts. The resignation to take effect on the 3d of March

The Pacific Railway Subsidies

Many persons of intelligence having never paid sufficient attention to the matter of the Government aid to the Union and Central Pacific railways, have no definite idea of the magnitude of the donations made by the Government to assist their enterprises We find in the San Francisco Bulletin of the 8th instant the following statement of facts in connection with this subject

The whole amount of bonds issued by the Government in aid of the Pacific Railroads including the branches is $64 623 512 At the end of the thirty years for which these bonds are to run the interest on them at 6 per cent will aggregate $116 322 121 Should the Courts sustain the railroads in their claim that this interest is not to be paid by them until the bonds mature, this enormous amount will have to be met by the Government, less the value of its business over the roads pay for which is withheld and credited against the interest account The amount so far paid by the Government is $16,770,575, of which it has received back $4,006,002, leaving a balance due by Companies of $12,764,573 The proportion due from the Central Pacific is nearly $6,000 000, from the Union, nearly $5,000,000 The companies are required by law to lay aside 5 per cent of their net earnings to meet the principal of the Government second mortgage bonds but they do not report any "net earnings," and have paid nothing into the sinking fund Last month the Government paid about $2,000,000 on account of Pacific Railroad interest, and owing to this cause the public debt statement showed an increase of $406,000. Had the Companies met the interest, the statement would have shown a decrease of over $1,500,000 It is owing entirely to the transactions of the Credit Mobilier, aided by members of Congress and Government Directors, and to those of the Contract and Finance Company, which made the Central Pacific cost $136,000 a mile, that the Government, instead of receiving its interest and being assured of a sinking fund to liquidate its bonds, is now in danger of having to pay both principal and interest itself The $100,000,000 in excess of an honest contract price which the roads were made to cost, if saved to the Companies, would leave them in splendid condition, and able to pay dividends on their stock, besides meeting promptly all obligations Yet there are party journals which defend the Congress men who helped to prevent this, which try to explain away every shameful development in the pending investigation, and which even rebuke the Republican majority for not packing the Committee!

The Alta California of the 11th inst, notices the resignation of Minister De Long The Territorial Enterprise announces a rumor to that effect, and the New York World confirms it, adding that George I Seaward will be appointed to succeed the retiring Minister. In Charles De Long our Government has had a most faithful and efficient representative. As an American thoroughly imbued with American ideas, he has done more toward completing the great work of social and political reform in Japan than any other ambassador to that Empire To his labors we are chiefly indebted for our enlarged commercial relations with that exclusive nation. He was instrumental in bringing about a radical change in the political economy of Japan, and it was at his instance that several heads of Departments in our own Government left their stations here to superintend the Agricultural, Financial, and Educational interests of that Empire.

In the Senatorial election held a month since in Arkansas, the balloting lasted six days, the majority of the Republicans voting for Thomas M Bowen, and the remainder for Stephen A. Dorsey, while the Democrats voted solid for A H. Garland. At last most of the Democrats, considering their inability to elect a man of their own political faith, agreed to vote for Dorsey, thus securing his election. Thereupon the Republicans who had been voting for Bowen, also went over to Dorsey, making his election all but unanimous. The Arkansas Republican, the principal organ of the Republican party in the State, says of Dorsey

The Republicans of this State may congratulate themselves in their new Senator. He is a man of broad and comprehensive views and undoubted ability, while his consistency as a Republican and his moral character are above reproach. Senator Dorsey is in the prime of life and the full vigor of manhood, having just arrived at the age when the intellectual as well as the physical powers are in full play, and have not been weakened or worn by continued struggles

It appears that Congress has about made up its mind to delay further legislation in behalf of railroads until it can be known how much the Contract and Finance Company of California has made out of its enormous contract swindles. It is generally believed that this company is but a diminutive of the Union Pacific Credit Mobilier. The best journals of California are clamoring for a thorough investigation into the affairs of the Central Pacific Railway and Congress seems disposed to heed the popular appeal

In an interview with a reporter of the Inter-Ocean Senator Pomeroy strongly denounced York of the Kansas Senate as the tool of a ring organized to defeat his (Pomeroy's) re election. The Senator declared that he had been defeated by a most gigantic conspiracy. He expressed strong confidence in his ability to prove his innocence and demanded a suspension of popular judgment until he could be heard in his own defense.

The committee of Southern members appointed after recent consultation to solicit the President to recognize the South in the reorganization of his Cabinet, had a consultation with him a day or two since in which they made known their desires They were cordially received and courteously treated They were assured that when the proper time arrived and circumstances permitted the President would be glad to conform to their wishes

GOAT ISLAND JOB —A Washington dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial has the following

It is whispered that proof would be obtained implicating a certain Senator whose reputation has heretofore been beyond reproach

The Statesman says "The Board of School Commissioners have had under consideration for the last two or three days, the matter of the School for the Blind, to be established under the law of the last legislature A proposition has been submitted to the Board from Miss Nellie Nesbitt, a Blind girl of Salem, to take charge of the school at a certain price per week for the board, care and instruction of each pupil, and we understand that the Board of Commissioners are disposed to look favorably upon it Miss Nesbitt is a very competent person to take charge of such a school, and we think from all we hear of her, that the Commissioners could never do better than to accept her proposition and induct her into the charge at the earliest day"

Some Pointed Inquiries

ELLENSBURG, CURRY COUNTY,

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Have we a Surveyor General of Oregon, if so, who is he, and where does he reside?

I've been trying to get the field notes of part of the Government survey in this county for individuals who wish to have their land surveyed, and though I've written several letters to the gentleman said to be the Surveyor General of this State, for that purpose, I cannot get an answer Is not the Surveyor General the proper person to apply to for such field notes?

The lines and corners of the Government survey in this county are so dim, and in places entirely obliterated, that it is impossible for the County Surveyor to make a correct survey Hoping that you will give me the desired information at your earliest convenience,

ARRIVAL OF VESSELS.—The British bark Victoria Cross, under command of Capt. McDougall, arrived from Astoria on last Saturday in tow of the tug Astoria. This bark arrived at Astoria several weeks ago, and has since her arrival been discharging a cargo of railroad iron. She came direct from Middlesborough, and is under charter to Messrs. Hewett, Wilson & Co., to carry a cargo of wheat to the United Kingdom. The Victoria Cross is one of the finest and most staunch vessels which has yet visited Portland. She is constructed of iron. The decks of the vessel are kept scrupulously neat, and the general appointments are of a superior character. This bark was built in Liverpool in 1863. Dimensions are as follows: Length over all 180 feet; breadth of beam, 38 feet, depth of hold nineteen feet. The registered capacity of the vessel 669 tons, while she can carry with ease 1,000 tons of cargo. She brought to this port enough rail road iron for ballast. This will be discharged, and wheat taken on board when the interior of the vessel can be placed in a proper condition to receive the grain. At present the bark is lying at Flanders' wharf.

The English bark Gemini arrived at port on Saturday at 7 P. M., in tow of the tug Merrimac, from Astoria. The vessel is in command of Capt D. F. Brocklebank. The Gemini was built on Jersey Island in the year 1864. Her dimensions are as follows: Length, 147 feet; hold, 17 5 feet; beam, 27.5 feet; registered capacity, 420 tons, carrying capacity, 700 tons. The bark came from one of the seaports of Peru in sand ballast. She sailed for this port on the 23d of December, and arrived off the bar on the 11th inst. On the following day the Gemini sailed over the bar without a pilot, and arrived at Astoria. This bark comes consigned to Hewett, Wilson & Co., and will carry hence a load of grain for Europe. There not being room at any of the wharves at present, the vessel lies moored in the river opposite the bone yard. When room is made, she will haul in and commence to discharge her ballast.

SOME "BLACKSMITHING."—As the Herald has had much comment of late to make in relation to the subject of "blacksmithing" and "mutilation," we would state for the benefit of that "live" institution, that if its editors will take the trouble to call at the OREGONIAN office we will be able to present them with some very artistic specimens of the "blacksmithing" art. We refer to the garbled and distorted account which the Herald reporter made of the resolutions adopted at the Woman Suffrage Convention on Sunday last. Sentences in some instances were left out, words changed, and one entire clause omitted. If this statement is questioned let the reporter simply compare the copy as appearing in the Herald of yesterday morning with that we present elsewhere in the OREGONIAN. We hope when the Herald gives another dissertation on the "blacksmithing" art it will not lose sight of home concerns.

CUTTING AFFAIR.—We learn the particulars of what nearly proved a cutting affair on Saturday evening in a saloon of the city. Some parties whose names were not ascertained were engaged in gambling. A dispute arose about the game, when one of the persons extinguished the light, leaving the room in total darkness. One of the parties, who was considerably intoxicated, drew a knife and made a pass at a man standing on the other side of the table. In the darkness he missed his man, but hit another person standing near by. The knife struck the party on the right side, but fortunately inflicted no injury further than to rip open the coat vest and shirt and cut the skin slightly. The affair was quelled at length and the game proceeded as before.

INSANE PATIENT.—An insane person, whose name we were unable to learn, was brought down from Salem on Saturday evening. He was in custody of Superintendent Watkinds. This patient was convicted about two years ago in Southern Oregon of the larceny of a watch and sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of five years. For some time past, he has manifested symptoms of insanity until his removal to the asylum became necessary.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN.—The dispatches from San Francisco contain the particulars of a stabbing affray at that place in which a well known Portland rough, rounder and thief, acts a prominent part. We allude to Ned Percy, who is too well known here to require much introduction. It seems that Percy got into some difficulty with a saloon keeper, and an altercation ensued in which Percy stabbed his antagonist fatally, so that his life is despaired of. Percy is known to be a thief at heart, and a turbulent and dangerous man when under the influence of liquor. Several years ago he resided in Portland and engaged in quite a number of transactions such as quietly relieving persons of watches, jewelry and loose change, which ultimated in his being compelled to leave the city. He directed his face toward Victoria, where it is stated he continued to ply his dishonest practices with an organized band of thieves. At length things became a little warm, and Percy returned to Portland. About a month after his arrival here he was arrested in connection with two other well-known gentlemen of the light fingered fraternity. One of the trio succeeded in getting cleared by some technicality of the law, and Percy and his confreres were sent to the Penitentiary for one year. Percy was discharged about two months ago, and soon after took his departure for San Francisco. Should this late difficulty result in his imprisonment for life, or for a sufficient term to work a reformation, society would be rid of the presence of a scourge, and good morals and the cause of peace and order subserved.

FUNERAL OBSEQUIES.—The remains of the late Orrin Kellogg, Sr., were conveyed to Oregon City for interment yesterday. At 9 o'clock A M. the members of the several Masonic Lodges of the city and sojourning brethren assembled at the Masonic Temple and escorted the remains to the steamer E. N. Cooke. A delegation accompanied the body to Oregon City and the members returned to the Hall. No religious services were held over the remains by request of the deceased, in consequence of the absence of Rev. Dr. Atkinson. On the return of that Minister from the Sound, a funeral discourse will be preached. In respect to the memory of the deceased the flag on the steamer were displayed at half mast as she steamed up the river.

TAKES THE OLD LINE.—This morning the steamer Dixie Thompson will resume her old place—the Astoria-Portland route. She was taken from that line some months ago, and the side-wheel steamer Josie McNear substituted. This was for the purpose of using the former steamer for towage and lighterage purposes. As the season for the shipment of wheat will close soon, and there will be less occasion for the services of the Dixie, she accordingly takes her accustomed line. Meantime, the Josie McNear will enjoy a season of repose at the bone yard.

PASSENGERS COMING.—The steamship Orizamme sailed on last Saturday for this port from San Francisco. She brings the following passengers: I Wasserman, J Lowenberg, H A Jerome, C R Wheeler, J C Joyce, W R Elliott and wife, A Singer, Mrs M Bybee and child, T A Talbot, C R Scoffin, A C Farnsworth, A Kloterman, D Maloney, D P Jenkins, John Rines and wife, Chas Weston, M Jones, S Greathouse, A Allen, Mrs A Levy, J G Walker, A J Watson, C White, J Glover, Mrs Martin and child.

OPERATIONS TO COMMENCE.—It is the intention of the Wallamet Bridge Company to begin operations on that structure to day. One hundred piles, each 70 feet long, have been collected on the eastern side of the river at the foot of Asylum street, at which point work will be commenced. A pile driver will be towed to that point this morning and the first piles driven for the bridge, if the stage of the water will allow.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.—The meetings which have been in progress at the Taylor street M. E. Church will be continued this week only, on the evenings of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Rev. Mr. Izer is at Hillsboro delivering lectures for the benefit of the S. S. library fund, and will not return until Tuesday, which is the reason the meeting will not be held this evening. Noon meetings every day as usual.

ARM BROKEN.—A little son of Mr. Baum, of this city, while endeavoring to get out of a street car last evening, slipped and fell, breaking the bone of one of his arms. A physician was called in and the fractured bone set, and the patient rendered as comfortable as the circumstances of the case would admit.

STEAMER TO SAIL.—The steamer Guide Telfair will sail this evening for San Juan, Forts Tongas, Wrangle, Nanaimo, Victoria and Sitka. Victoria, Nanaimo and Sitka freight must be cleared before 12 o'clock M. to be received. The steamer Geo. S. Wright is announced to sail hence on the 1st of March.

DOWN THE RIVER.—The bark Melancthon and Jane A. Falkinburg are both down the river. The former vessel will load with salmon and lumber at some ports on the Columbia, for San Francisco; the latter bark will receive a large cargo of stave bolts at Astoria for Honolulu.

UNDERGOING REPAIRS.—The tug Merrimac will not go down the river for several days yet, in consequence of needed repairs the steamer is at present undergoing. A portion of her machinery and boiler is being examined and such repairs as may be found necessary made.

RESUMED.—Work on the new custom house and postoffice building was commenced last Saturday. We are informed that the work will progress uninterruptedly until the completion of that edifice, which will be some time during the present season.

LOADED WITH WHEAT.—The steamer Emma Hayward will carry down a load of grain which is to be transferred to one of the several vessels now lying at Astoria with cargoes yet incomplete.

MOTION DAY.—Circuit Court will convene this morning at 9 o'clock. Jurors will probably not be required to attend the opening of the Court, as Monday has been set apart as motion day.

Window shades, cornices, curtains, picture nails, etc., also all kinds of upholstery work done at Paul Richter's.

FROM COOS BAY.

Our correspondent writing from Empire City says. The steamer which is expected to arrive on the 17th inst., will prove a great improvement over the sailing vessels now in the line between Coos Bay and San Francisco. The sailing vessels average ten trips a year and the steamers will probably make the round trip inside of twelve days and at the same time be able to take full freights each way, showing a decided increase during the year if run regularly.

A. M. Simpson and Butler, at North Bend, have laid the keel for a vessel of five hundred tons burthen. This will be the largest vessel ever built at Coos Bay.

The mill at Marshfield, which has been idle for a long time, will shortly be placed in running order, and it is expected will be in operation early in the spring. This is the most extensive mill on Coos Bay. It will give employment to quite a number of men.

The following vessels arrived and departed during the week ending February 11th: Arrived—Schooners Jenny Thelin, Gleaner, Good Templar, Etconia, Alaska, Argo, brig Sheet Anchor. Sailed—Schooners Meldon, Elida, Parallel, B. H Ramsdel.

Prospects for a lively trade hereabouts this year is promising indeed.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE CONVENTION.

Second Day's Proceedings.

The attendance at the Woman's Suffrage Convention was decidedly larger last Saturday afternoon than on the preceding day.

The Convention met promptly at the hour indicated—2 o'clock—and was called to order by the President, Mrs. O. B Gibson

The minutes of the Friday evening's session were read, and on motion of Mrs. Dr. Thompson, adopted

The President stated that Mrs. Hurd had expressed a desire to read an essay on "Progress," which that lady had written. The Convention would be happy to hear the essay, and Mrs. Hurd was invited to take the rostrum

That lady came forward in compliance with the request, and proceeded to read a short essay, which contained in the main good sentiment and correct ideas, but rounded very much like a composition written by a school girl in her teens

The Convention was treated to music at the conclusion of the essay, rendered by Professor and Mrs McGilvery. The song was entitled "The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man"

RESOLUTIONS.

Col C A. Reed, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions stated to the President that the Committee were ready to submit their report. The resolutions were handed to the Secretary to read, and were as follows

WHEREAS, In the course of human events it becomes necessary to set new landmarks, from time to time, in advance of the old ones, that regulations and usages of government may thereby meet the enlarging requirements of a growing intellectuality, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Oregon State Woman's Suffrage Association, in Convention assembled, hereby declare our allegiance to the letter and spirit of the original Declaration of Independence and Constitution of the United States of America, with the further addition of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments thereto appended, and adopt them as our Articles of Faith.

Resolved, That we as an Organization are clinging hopefully to the famous splinter inserted among the planks of the Republican platform by the dominant party of the voting sex, in which the demands of women for "additional rights" are guaranteed "respectful consideration;" and that we, having accepted its proffers in good faith, hold it to its part of our National agreement.

Resolved, That we now demand of the party in power in the Congress of which it holds the majority, a declaratory and enabling Act pronouncing women voters under the declarations of our national Articles of Faith.

Resolved, That we exact of the dominant party the same recognition of public service and the same appointment of public offices, for our leaders that are accorded to men who have aided in securing its present re lease of power.

Resolved, That we appeal to the citizens of Oregon who believe in the principle of "equality before the law," to aid this Association in every possible way by placing these self evident truths before the people that all men and women are created equal, and of right ought to be equally free and independent in law, custom and ethics, and we urge them to proceed at once to perfect the different county organizations throughout the State.

Resolved, That we recognize the necessity of sustaining the New Northwest as the organ of this Association, and urge all members to use their influence to place this journal in every home on the coast.

Resolved, That this Convention recognize the acts of Miss Anthony and her friends in voting in accordance with their convictions of right and duty, as deeds of brave and noble women, and the acts of the registers and judges of elections in receiving and counting their votes as praiseworthy and just.

Resolved, That as men alone have proved themselves unable to quench the great torrent of intemperance that is deluging the earth with dissipation, woman now comes to the front as his co-worker, and respectfully offers her hand and heart in holy marriage to the Oregon State Temperance Alliance.

Resolved, That this Convention tender the press of this city our thanks for the fair and honest reports of our deliberations with which they have favored us, and especially congratulate the just and honorable reporters who have faithfully represented us to the public.

Colonel Reed moved that the resolutions as read be adopted by the Convention. The motion prevailed, and the resolutions as a whole were adopted.

An extract was next read from a monthly magazine by Mrs. C. A. Coburn, entitled "When women vote what may we expect."

Mrs. A. J. Dunlway stated by way of explanation, that the extract just read was not written by some sour soured, disappointed, dissatisfied woman, but was from the pen of a high-minded, philanthropic and far seeing gentleman. She also availed of the opportunity to give Tony Noltner of the Enterprise another excoriation, for a paragraph which appeared in his paper last week.

Mrs. Dr. Thompson next took the rostrum and read a poem, but in such an extremely low voice, that it was difficult for the Convention to hear what was being read. We are unable to give the title of the poem.

A Mrs. Eaves, of Clackamas county, was next introduced to the Convention by Col. Reed, and addressed the audience at some length. She was a rapid and eloquent talker, and by the pathetic manner in which she recited the hardships and difficulties of her early life, produced a profound sensation on the female portion of her listeners, many of whom were moved to tears.

Mrs. Beatty, a colored lady, was next called to the stage. She read a brief essay.

Prof. McGilvery and wife rendered another appropriate song, "Pledged for the Right," which was warmly applauded by the Convention.

ELECTION OF DELEGATES.

The President stated that the next business in order was the election of Delegates by the Convention, to attend the State Temperance Alliance which assembled at Salem on the 20th inst. The following persons were placed in nomination and elected by the Convention: Mrs. B. A. Owens of Roseburg; W. A. Mills, Cyrus Walker, Mrs. C. A. Coburn, of Washington county; Miss V. Olds, W. A. Mills, of Yamhill county; Mrs. E. Towle, C. A. Reed, Mrs. M. O. Moore, of Marion county; Mrs. Dr. Thompson, J. W. Peters, B. C. Dunlway, of Multnomah county; Mrs. H. K. Eaves, of Clackamas county; Mrs. J. H. Foster, Nelson Wright, of Linn.

It was then moved and carried that the Convention adjourn until 7:30 o'clock P. M.

EVENING SESSION.

The Theater was crowded to repletion on Saturday evening by a respectable and cultivated assemblage of ladies and gentlemen desirous of being present at the close of the Woman's Suffrage Convention.

Precisely at 7:30 o'clock the meeting was called to order by the President

The exercises were opened with music. A chant was rendered in good style by Prof. and Mrs. McGilvery.

An address from the pen of the late Hon. G. W. Brown, was read by his widow.

Miss Virginia Olds, of Yamhill county, next appeared on the rostrum, and read a poem entitled "Woman." The poem was handsomely read, and won a round of applause at its conclusion.

Col C A. Reed, of Salem, was then introduced and proceeded to read an original poem from the pen of Mrs. Belle W. Cook.

At the conclusion of the poem, a song entitled "Opposition," was rendered by Prof. McGilvery, followed by a duet, "The Scolding Wife," by the Professor and his wife

As the last announcement on the programme, Mrs. A. J Dunlway was introduced and proceeded to address the large assemblage on the subject of "Freedom," in which she advocated in the strongest terms the granting to women everywhere equality before the law, which she urged they were deprived of at present. The speaker made the prediction that within the present Administration the Republican party would, finding that their power was waning, grant to woman the right of suffrage. This would be done to enable them to secure a fresh lease of power. She did not think she was far from wrong in predicting that she would ratify this announcement before three years had expired.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Dunlway's remarks, a collection was taken up to defray the necessary expenses of rent, fuel, lights, etc., for the hall, after which the Convention adjourned sine die

IN MEMORIAM.

HALL OF MULTNOMAH LODGE, No. 1, }
February 16, 1873. }

To the W. M., Wardens and Brothers of Multnomah Lodge, No. 1, F. & A. M.:—We, your Committee appointed upon the death of our aged and well beloved Brother Orrin Kellogg, who departed this life on Friday morning, February 14th, at the residence of his son and our brother, Joseph Kellogg, in the city of Portland, would respectfully make this our report, and recommend that the following preamble and resolutions be adopted and spread in full upon the records of this Lodge.

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Supreme Architect of the Universe to summon from his labors upon earth, our beloved brother, Orrin Kellogg, calling, by his omnipotent will, to that judgment which awaits all who are toiling in this earthly temple; and,

WHEREAS, The Masonic ties which have for over 24 years' connection by him with this Lodge, bound him with us in mutual Friendship and enjoyment in the work of Masonry, that in the death of our aged and devoted brother, the brothers of this Lodge have lost one of those whom we have learned to revere and honor for his connection with the organization of this, the first Lodge on this coast. To him we are indebted for the safe conveyance of the charter from the hands of the M. W. Grand Master of the State of Missouri to the brethren of this place. Thus the link that bound us with the past has been broken and severed, no more to be reunited until the day when the grave shall yield up its dead; therefore,

Resolved, That we sincerely mourn this disruption of covenanted friendship, bearing in tender remembrance his fidelity to Masonry and his devotion to the principles it inculcates.

Resolved, That we earnestly sympathize with the relatives and friends of our Brother, and tender them that consolation which the world can neither give nor take away, and that we will wear the usual badge of mourning for the space of thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of this preamble and resolutions be forwarded to the family of our deceased Brother, and inserted in the daily papers of Portland and the Enterprise of this place.

J. T. APPERSON,
J. M. FRAZER,
J. M WELCH,
B. JENNINGS,
Committee.

These resolutions were unanimously adopted.

An Easy Way to Health.

The appetite is generally keener in winter than in summer, but the same low temperature which begets an increased desire for food is apt to decrease the ability of the stomach to digest it. The most aggravated cases of acute dyspepsia occur at this season, and the best, and, in fact, the only way to control and cure them, is to stimulate and tone the stomach and invigorate and regulate the secretive and discharging organs. To do this promptly, safely and thoroughly (without involving any change in the ordinary habits of the invalid), a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will be necessary. In order to accomplish a radical cure of indigestion, it is not enough to influence the organs of digestion. The liver, the intestines, the circulation, every organ and every secretion concerned in the work of assimilating the food and in carrying off the waste matter of the system, must be brought into a natural condition. Upon all these portions of the living machinery, the great vegetable medicine, which stands at the head of all modern restoratives, acts powerfully and beneficially. The feeble should take at least one dose daily at all seasons of the year, and it may be taken with great benefit twice a day by all who are predisposed to dyspepsia, biliousness or nervous attacks. Ladies will find it a very present help in the latter class of complaints, and indeed in all the ailments incident to the sex.

The Kansas Senatorial Election

In the Washington Chronicle of January 31st we find the following.

The result of the contest for Senator in Kansas has occasioned much surprise and sorrow among the many friends of Mr Pomeroy in this city. They regarded his defeat at this juncture, in view of the disturbing influences at work in the political atmosphere, as among the possibilities, but not the probabilities. They had confidence in him, they know he had been of immense service to Kansas, and believed that he had a strength among the people that would overcome all opposition. The result of the first ballot did not seriously disappoint them, and the fact that but sixty men could be found to enter into the combination of the opposition (nine less than a majority) served to strengthen the impression as to his success.

The final result, therefore, is simply astounding. They reason that it is hardly credible there should have been such a stampede of his friends unless they believed him guilty of the attempt to bribe Senator York, yet are at a loss to understand how credence should be given to one who, according to his own admission, had played the part of informer, stool-pigeon and spy. No honorable man would consent to enter into a conspiracy to tempt, seduce, and betray another. Whatever may be established as to Mr Pomeroy, with one consent men will avoid Mr. York as a leprous scoundrel, whose touch is contamination. Indeed, the impression will instinctively rise in the mind of every honest man that York was paid a higher price than he claims to have been offered by Pomeroy by some other interested party.

As Mr. Pomroy denies in toto the statements of York, we await the result of the investigation before expressing an opinion as to the facts. We can not believe that he would thus attempt to bribe a member of the Legislature. The sum alleged to have been paid is so large as to discredit the idea that a system of bribery could have been attempted upon any such scale. The transaction, according to the statement of Yorke, seems to have had no witnesses. If that is true, then the declarations of one will counterbalance the declarations of the other, and the verdict will depend upon corroborating circumstances. The game seems to have been regularly planned, and the disclosure to the Legislature in joint session was admirably timed to produce a stampede, just such as sometimes occurs in a battle, and overwhelms with disaster a force just on the eve of victory. The public judgment will be just in the end, if it be possible to get at all the facts. If the Senator is guilty he deserves the fate that has overtaken him. The country can not afford a continuance of this corruption in Senatorial elections. Since Mammon has entered the ring in a contest for supremacy in this country, seeking to sway the destinies of the nation by diverting legislation from legitimate channels, we have gone on from bad to worse, making a record that can not be too carefully studied by those who have the remedy in their hands.

Senator Pomeroy telegraphed to his family in this city on the night of the 29th inst.: A plot was laid to defeat me. I have done nothing wrong. Will explain when I see you.

The following telegram has also been handed us, believed to be from a responsible source:

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 29.—Mr. Pomeroy has been defeated by a conspiracy without a parallel in wickedness. His friends are satisfied he has done no wrong, and sympathize with him in his defeat.

Albert H. Horton, United States District Attorney, telegraphs as follows:

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 30.—Mr. Pomeroy will start soon for Washington. Do not believe false dispatches. All is right. Explanations will be satisfactory to you and everybody.

HOW A LOST COMET WAS FOUND.—The extraordinary showers of meteors which fell on the 27th of last November has not yet probably passed out of mind; nor the fact that it was generally believed among astronomers that they were a part of the lost comet Biela. A continental astronomer, Klenarfues, was so convicted of the truth of the supposition that he concluded that since the earth had passed through the train of the comet the actual track of the comet was indicated. Assuming this to be true, he calculated the place where the comet ought to be, and at once sent a telegram to the Government astronomer at Madras, India, saying "Biela tonight earth on the 27th; search Theta Centauri." The message had to be sent to a Southern observatory, because the track of the comet was southward, and the portion of the starphere, where the comet ought to be, was not visible to Northern observers. In due time the Madras observer received the telegram, but his time for observation was short as the Centaur does not rise at Madras until nearly sunrise. The weather the first two mornings was unfavorable. At a quarter past five on the third morning the patience of the observer was rewarded, and the prediction of the Continental astronomer verified. There, in the place predicted, was the lost comet Biela. The observation was of sufficient length to reveal the comet's motion, and thus establish the matter beyond a doubt. The comet still presented a circular aspect; a bright nucleus and a faint but distinct tail, about as long as a fourth part of the moon's apparent diameter and spreading. Whether the companion comet was there or not the observer had no time to tell; daylight came on with rapid strides, and the next morning clouds and rain had returned.

C. M. Lockwood.

Of the late C. M. Lockwood, whose death was announced a few days since, the Dallas Mountaineer says:

Mr. Lockwood was a man of great energy and determination, and whenever he engaged in any business, he pushed it ahead with all his power. About nine years ago he commenced freighting between this place and Canyon City with one team of cattle. In the course of a few years, by energy and perseverance, he monopolized nearly all the freighting business on this road. In '66 and '67 he was the working member of Teal, Goldsmith & Co., a transportation company formed to take Government contracts, in which amount he made a large amount of money. He next took the contract for carrying the United States' mails from Salt Lake City to this place—a distance of eight hundred miles—and succeeded in making money out of it. The last speculation, we believe, that he was engaged in was the establishing of a long mail line through Texas.

He has made in the course of eight or ten years, several hundred thousand dollars, but in so doing, we are sorry to say, he has worn himself out.

Mr. Lockwood was about thirty eight years of age, was a kind and genial gentleman, and honored and respected by all who knew him. He was a member of the I. O. O. F., and also of the F & A. M. He leaves a widow and two children and many relatives and friends to mourn his early death. Peace to his ashes.

We find the subjoined items concerning the new Government loan, in the New York dispatches of the 9th instant.

The Herald says from all reliable information accessible outside the Syndicate, which still withholds figures, it seems that the subscriptions to the new loan have amounted to about two hundred million dollars, or two thirds of the amount offered for disposal. The Syndicate will probably be able to place on the market the rest of the bonds during the interval to December, when the contract with them will expire.

The Times says that subscriptions abroad and at home have been secured outside the six wealthy members of the Syndicate—Rothschilds, Barings, Morgan, Cooke, Morton and Drexel, who, having ten months longer time, will place the remainder of the loan. We assume for granted, from their position and pride in the affair, that they will make the success of the negotiation certain and complete according to their contract with the Treasury.

A Washington special of the 10th says

At a caucus of the Republican Senators this morning Senator Anthony presided. The subject considered was business now before the Senate. A committee was ordered to be appointed by the Chairman to report at a future meeting what measures should have precedence.

The general object is to act upon those of most public importance with a view to avoiding the call of an extra session. The prevailing sentiment is against such extra session. Some Senators declared that the President should not be forced to call an extra session, owing to the fault or negligence of Congress to transact the necessary legislation.

The Paris Gaurea of Feb 10th publishes a letter from one of Napoleon's Ministers, name not given, confirming the revelations made by Duc de Grammont as to the promises of assistance made by Austria to France at the beginning of the war with Prussia. The correspondent adds to Grammont's statement that a treaty of triple alliance was nearly concluded between France, Italy, and Austria, but was not signed, because Napoleon rejected it as dishonorable.

Madrid dispatches of the 10th inst. say that the King's disposition to quit the throne is attributed to a difference between his Majesty and the Ministry, which arose in November last, when the General of Artillery, Don Hidalgo, was promoted to a Captain Generalship in the Basque Provinces and a majority of the officers in the artillery arm of the service resigned their commissions, at the same time protesting against the promotion as irregular and unjustifiable, and also refusing to serve under Hidalgo because he participated in the massacre at San Gil barracks in 1866. Hidalgo, meeting with so much opposition, finally resigned, and the officers withdrew their resignations, but the Ministry recently appointed him to a new and important command in Catalonia, and the artillery officers returned their protest against it and again sent in their resignations. The Ministry disregarded them, and appealing to the Cortes obtained nearly a unanimous vote of confidence. The King from the beginning disapproved of the promotion of Hidalgo, and feels affronted because the Cabinet compels him, through a vote of the Cortes, to acquiesce in the appointment.

AN AWFUL LONESOME MAN IN CALIFORNIA.—In the shanty which, in California's early days, did duty as office for the banking, postal and express business of Wells, Fargo & Co., in Marysville, there sat one Saturday evening, a misanthropic and dejected looking individual, whose long and unkept hair and beard, cow-hide boots and rough dress, bespoke the miner. For over an hour he sat there, the picture of despair, with not a word or a look for any one present. Miners came, left their "dust," took their coin in return, and exchanged greetings with all present save the one morose man whose apathy nothing, it seemed, could disturb. Finally there entered a young miner with a beaming face, who, after completing his business at the counter, turned to the agent in charge and remarked that on the previous Saturday he had some dealings with the bank, and thought that some mistake had been made on his account.

"Guess not," said the agent. "Our cash was all right, and I reckon we keep our books pretty straight."

But upon the request of the miner that the account should be examined, the account was looked at, and it was found that through a clerical error, the miner had been paid just $50 too much.

"That's just what I make it," said the latter, "and here's your money." With this he threw down the gold and received the thanks of the agent.

While this conversation was in progress, the misanthropic miner had preserved his look of utter indifference; but, when he saw the money actually returned, his face brightened up, he rose slowly, walked toward the honest miner with slow and solemn step, and said:

"Young man, don't you feel awful lonesome in this country?"

WHAT WAS THOUGHT OF COTTON 88 YEARS AGO.—This day, one Michael Carmody was executed here for felony, upon which the journeymen weavers of the city (who labored under great difficulties by reason of the deadness of trade occasioned by the pernicious habit of wearing cottons) assembled in a body, and dressed the criminal, hangman, and the gallows in cotton, in order to discourage the wearing thereof. And at the place of execution the criminal made the following speech:

"Give ear, O good people, to the words of a dying sinner! I confess that I have been guilty of many crimes that necessity compelled me to commit, which starving condition I was in, I am well assured, was occasioned by the scarcity of money that has proceeded from the great discouragement to our woolen manufactures. Therefore, good Christians, consider that if you go on to suppress your own goods by wearing such cottons as I am now clothed in, you will bring your country into misery which will consequently swarm with just such unhappy malefactors as your present object is: and the blood of every miserable felon that will hang after this warning from the gallows, will lie at your doors. And if you have any regard for the prayers of an expiring mortal, I beg that you will not buy of the hangman the cotton garments that now ardorn the gallows, because I cannot rest quiet in my grave if I should see the very things worn that brought me to misery, thieving, and this untimely end; all of which I pray to the gentry to hinder their children and servants, for their own character's sake, though they have no tenderness for their country, because none will hereafter wear cotton but oyster women, criminals, hucksters, and common hangmen."—Gentlemen's Intelligencer, May, 1784.

It is probable a great part of the talk about sending troops to Utah to have them ready in case of a conflict with the church, is more conjecture. A Washington dispatch of the 9th inst. says:

Some important movements of troops will soon be ordered by the War Department, the effect of which will be to take from the States of Kentucky, North and South Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee the greater portion of the United States military forces stationed there and locate them at other points where the interests of the Government may require. No troops are now under orders for service in Utah. It does not appear that the Department immediately contemplates sending any in addition to the forces already serving in proximity to the Mormon country. A regiment will soon be stationed along the Rio Grande on account of the troubles in that section. In other parts of the South they will be gradually withdrawn.

In the United States Senate, on February 10th, Pomeroy rose to a personal explanation. He said he embraced the first opportunity to make a statement personal to himself and in justice to the officers and members of the Senate. The public were aware of the deep and successful conspiracy laid to accomplish his defeat. It was a villainy unparalleled. He denied every statement affecting his integrity. He pronounced all the allegations made against him specifically false. He had never entered into any agreement with any member of the Kansas Legislature, never paid a dollar to any member to vote for him. He asked for a special committee, composed largely of his political opponents, to investigate in the fullest possible manner all the charges against him, so as to make a report before his term expires; to have power to compel the attendance of witnesses. He concluded by offering a resolution for the appointment of a select investigating committee of five. The resolution was adopted.

The Warmothites in Louisiana have got another important set back. On January 30th Attorney General Williams received from New Orleans the following dispatch.

The Supreme Court has just decided on an appeal from a lower Court in favor of Morgan, whom Pinchback appointed Associate Justice, and against Kennard, whom Warmoth appointed, but who was not confirmed by the Senate. It also decided that Pinchback was the legal Lieutenant Governor when the Legislature met, the legal acting Governor on the impeachment of Warmoth, and that the Legislature was legal, being returned by the legal Returning Board.

The one hundredth couple who have blown out gas stopped at Glenn's Falls, New York. They were from the rural districts. The late retiring guests smelling it, notified the porter, who woke up the couple, telling them that the gas was leaking. "Is it?" asked the swain; "I thought I blew it all out!"

Wheat in Liverpool—Average, California, 12s1d@12s 2d, Club, 12s8d@12s9d

Much has been said about the financial outlook for 1873 many claiming that beginning of the better times generally predicted would not be felt until the spring months were far advanced, and postponing it till the end of the harvest year. We can see no good reason to doubt that an amelioration in the general financial condition of the country at large is already in progress. Our local markets as well as our advices from California and the Eastern States all confirm this belief, though exchanges are rarely full under our notice containing the stereotyped phrases about dull times. From a circular from the Banking House of Henry Clewes & Co., we learn that unfavorable as the condition of the European money market has been to the negotiation of our securities abroad, the amount of loans placed there during the year 1872 was larger than is generally supposed.

From carefully prepared records it appears that the amount actually paid on subscriptions at London to new American issues, during the past year, was fully $40,000,000, besides which we have exported probably $20,000,000 more of miscellaneous securities previously current on that market. Germany has probably taken fully $17,000,000 of Bonds, chiefly railway, although the excited speculation upon new home issues in that country has been peculiarly unfavorable to the marketing of our securities there. Perhaps fully three fourths of these negotiations were made during the first half of the year; the subsequent activity of the money markets in Europe having almost entirely diverted attention from American investments. If, as is shown from statements published in the London Journals, some $350,000,000 was invested at London last year in new securities, there is reason to expect that, following the severe check upon investment operations, caused by the late condition of the money market, we shall soon witness a renewal of the British demand for our securities; and the tenor of recent advices gives confidence to this anticipation. As the large investments of English and German capital in this country are every year making our financial relations with those countries more intimate and binding, the course of European politics becomes to the United States a matter of increasing interest. Whatever may be thought of the dangers of new international policies and alliances growing out of the changes in relations of France and Germany, of the possibility of success for checkmating new ambitions, or of plots for revenging defeats, it must be conceded that the decease of the late Emperor of the French very much simplifies the situation in France and removes one important source of future complications in European politics. This gain in favor of peace is also a gain in favor of stability and confidence in financial affairs, from which we may hope to derive our share of advantage.

United States bonds appear to have settled into a permanent resting place among our investors. They are now held almost exclusively as permanent investments, and the supply coming upon the market in consequently very limited, while prices are maintained with much firmness. The supply has been so reduced by the purchases of the Government and by exportation to Europe, that investors have now to look to other securities for a safe and profitable employment of their means, and very generally give preference to first class railway bonds, which not only yield a much higher rate of interest than Government bonds, but are protected by a first lien on property which is constantly increasing in value. Although a large amount of this class has been created within the past year, yet a large amount of the new issues have gone to the European markets, London alone having taken over $60,000,000 during 1872. At present, there is a marked lull in the construction of new roads, and now the chief demand for capital for railway purposes is connected with the double tracking or extension of the older trunk lines, whose traffic has been augmented beyond their capacity through the recent construction of several thousand miles of feeding roads, opening new and fertile country. A large portion of this sort of work is now projected, which will have the effect of giving better facilities for the new roads forwarding produce to the seaboard, and consequently augmenting their traffic.

The present firmness of Foreign Exchange appears to be due mainly to remittances of January interest upon our securities held in Europe, and also to the absence of any other sources for drawing bills than the ordinary exports of cotton and produce. The loans effected abroad during 1872 have been wholly drawn against, and none are in progress which afford the prospect of an early yield of bills; and for the immediate future we can see no other supply of this commercial bills against credit. It may be reasonably expected, however, that ere long a revival of the European demand for American securities will create a supply of bills.

English Freight Market.

The report of the London freight notices as an important feature in the long trade freighting operations of the past year, the engagement of tonnage for Wheat from California, Oregon and Australia, the rates paid for Iron and other choice tonnage being higher than current for many years. The highest quotation was from Portland, Oregon, £6 10s per ton being offered for vessels to load in all next month, and £6 to 6l6l of March. From San Francisco forward ships obtained as high as £5 to £5 2s 6d, and from Adelaide we have had considerable business at 75s. For next season we fully anticipate good business home, as we understand there are large stocks of Grain, and we look for an increased importation being required here, owing to the continued rains and floods having prevented our farming operations.

Eastern Markets.

We have mail dates from New York to February 1st. The markets were generally quiet. Spices, however, were active, Cloves being the most noteworthy feature, with large sales on the spot and to arrive, opening at 22½c and closing at 20c, with some small lots at 21½c, while the asking prices at the close were 27½c to 30c. Clove stems sympathized, and were nominally held at 13 @14c. There had been considerable sales of Nutmeg and and Pimento, on hand and to arrive, at hardening rates. Canela was dull. Coffee, Rice and Sugar were quiet, though the latter was a shade lower. Pig Iron was quiet, but firm, most of the stock being in the hands of speculators.

The Coal combination at the East continues to excite attention. There is now a general impression that rates this year will be higher than they were last year. The Lehigh Coal Exchange, which regulates the price of Coal mined in the Lehigh region, gives the following schedule for February, as compared with the previous month:

	Jan. 1.	Feb 1.
Lump	$5 00	$5 00
Broken and Egg	4 75	5 25
Stove	5 10	5 10
Chestnut	4 75	4 90

The above rates are for Coal on board vessels at Elizabeth and Port Johnson. Lehigh Coal, stove size, is now selling in New York at $6 50 ₩ ton wholesale.

The Wheat Exports.

Since the first day of last August the exports of Wheat from this port have amounted, as estimated, to 900,000 centals, direct for the United Kingdom in the same time our Flour shipments have been the equivalent of about 375,000 centals additional, and a total of 1,094,000 centals. The value of our Wheat exports is estimated at about $400,000, and flour at about $300,000, the aggregate value of Wheat and Flour so far in the present year exported being $700,000.

There is yet a large surplus in the hands of the producers of the country, but we are sorry that the prospects for tonnage for the remainder after the vessels now in port, and some three yet to arrive are loaded, are not at all flattering to the idea that better prices will prevail

Roma Produce Market.

We notice no change in quotations to-day. The receipts during the calendar week have hardly been so large as last, if we except the staple of wheat, which has been constantly coming to hand in large quantities, to load the vessels now here. It really begins to look as if quite sufficient to furnish cargoes for them all would soon be on hand.

The supply of oats, flour, feed, hay, bacon, lard, butter and eggs in the market is quite adequate to the demand, and to none of them is trade very active, owing to the low prices which prevail in our usual markets of demand for these products, and the consequent limited call for them for shipping purposes. Apples, hides, wool and barley are firm, but unchanged.

Shipping Intelligence.
